Written by Fonseca and Silvestre Dangond along with Mauricio Rengifo, Andrés Torres and Yoel Henríquez, "Cartagena" reminds us to look away from our screens and appreciate the beauty that surrounds us, and to treasure the company of our loved ones. Over a breezy tropical beat and joyful Colombian accordion, the two renowned singers lend their instantly recognizable voices to pay tribute to the warmth of this special place: "vámonos pa' Cartagena, vivir la vida buena, bailamos juntos en la playa. Llegando a Tierra Bomba, pedimos por de copas, vamo a pasarnos de la raya" (Let's go to Cartagena, live the good life, dance together on the beach. When we get to Tierra Bomba, we'll order a couple of drinks and get wild.)

Founded in 1533, the city of Cartagena dazzles us, as its beaches and historic charms serve as the backdrop to a couple rekindling their passion for each other in the music video directed by the Colombian filmmaker Christian Schmid Rincón and the animations and post-production overseen by Leo González and Rubén Antorveza.
